2 Kings & Hebrews

In Kings we read of the history of Israel, the building of their temple and the leadership of their kings, prophets and priests. Hebrews shows us how in Jesus all those things have been wrapped up for Jesus is better than all of what came before.

Chronicles & James

Chronicles tells the story of the people of God living out their identity as God's people - but also how often they got it wrong. James gives us instruction and teaching on how the Christian faith works out in practical terms.

Isaiah & Mark

Both of these authors present to the reader the Jewish Messiah (meaning anointed one, or simply put "king"). And both Isaiah and Mark show how the Messiah was not going to be a king who would come and destroy Israel's human enemies through battle and conquest, but how as the Suffering Servant and through his death on the cross he would defeat their greatest enemy Satan and death itself.

Jeremiah, Lamentations & Jude

Jeremiah is known as the weeping prophet.

He wrote both the prophecies found in Jeremiah and the book Lamentations. His prophetic work was spoken as a warning before the city of Jerusalem was conquered. The people of Judah had lost their way and under corrupt leadership had turned from God.

Lamentations is a collection of Jeremiah's cries over Jerusalem as it is destroyed.

Jude, like Jeremiah, contends for the faith and warns of false teaching and those who would turn from God.

Ezekiel & Thessalonians

While Ezekiel spells out God's judgement on people for their wicked ways, he also declares that God isn't done with humanity and there is hope - this hope comes in the form of a Messiah, a new king like David who will restore human beings along with all creation. In the letters to the Thessalonians, Paul writes to them about how to live in a manor that anticipates the future hope that we have in the return of Jesus.

Daniel & Revelation

These two books carry on the theme of future hope. They also share lots of the same imagery. They are often referred to as apocalyptic literature. This is a genre that is all about revealing what is hidden, like pulling back a curtain. These books pull back the curtain and show us more of who Jesus is and what He is doing so that we might continue to have hope in Him.
